

Les Paul's first invention

He was about 13 years old.

There were harmonica holders being made commercially then, but they couldn't change keys. That wasn't going to work for me because I had a good German harmonica that played on both sides. So I made my own harmonica holder ....so I could flip it over with my chin.

Les Paul